This publication explains the federal income tax rules for the benefits of social security and equivalent level-level retirement benefits. It is prepared through the joint our efforts, the administration of Social Security (SSA) and the Board of Railroad Retirements of the United States (RRB). The benefits of social security include monthly retirement, survival and disability benefits. They do not include supplementary income security payments (SSI), which are not Equivalent level 1 railway pension benefits are the portion of level 1 benefits that an employee or beneficiary of the railway would have been entitled to receive under the social security system. They are commonly called the part of level 1 of benefit equivalent to social security (SSEB). (SSEB). If you received these benefits during 2020, you must have received a Form SSA-1099, Social Security Benefits Return; Form RRB-1099, Railway Retirement Board Payments; Form SSA-1042S, Statement of Benefits from Social Security; or Form RRB-1042S, Statement of Benefits for Non-Resident Foreigners that receives payments from the Board of Retirees of the Railroad, showing the amount. To find out if any of your benefits shown on Forms SSA-1099 and RRB-1099 may be taxable, compare the base amount (explained below) for your filing status with the total of: Half of your benefits plus all your other income, including tax-exempt interest. The SSA issues Form SSA-1099 and Form SSA-1042S. The RRB issues Form RRB-1099 and Form RRB-1042S. These forms (tax returns) report the amounts paid and refunded, and the taxes withheld during a fiscal year. You may receive more than one of these forms for the same tax year. See the Appendix, below, for more. All Original Form RRB-1099 or RRB-1042S is valid unless corrected. The RRB will issue a corrected form RRB-1099 or RRB-1042S if there is an error in the original. A corrected Form RRB-1099 or RRB-1042S will be marked as "Correct" and will replace the corresponding original Form RRB-1099 or RRB-1042S. You have to. Do it. The last corrected Form RRB-1099 or Form RRB-1042S that you received and any original Form RRB-1099 or Form RRB-1042S that the RRB did not correct in determining what amounts to reporting on your tax return.If the only income you received during 2020 was your social security or the SSEB portion of the Tier 1 rail pension benefits, your benefits are usually not taxable and you probably won't have to file a return. If you have income in addition to your profits, you may have to file a return even though none of your profits are taxable. See IRS Pub. 501, Dependents, Standard Deduction and Filing Information, or your tax return instructions to find out if you have to file a return. . Example. In 2019, you received $3,000 in social security benefits, and in 2020 you received $2,700. In March 2020, the SSA notified him that he should have received only $2,500 in benefits in 2019. During 2020, you returned $500 to the SSA. The SSA-1099 form you received for 2020 shows $2,700 in box 3 (gross amount) and $500 in box 4 (refund). The amount in box 5 shows your net benefits of $2,200 ($2,700 minus $500). Non-foreign residents. A non-resident alien is a person who is not a citizen or resident of the United States. If you are a non-resident alien, the rules discussed in this publication do not apply to you. In contrast, 85% of its profits are taxed at a rate of 30%, unless they are exempt (or subject to a lower rate) by treaty. You will receive a Form SSA-1042S or Form RRB-1042S showing the amount of your benefits. These forms will also show the tax rate and the amount of taxes withheld from your profits. Under tax treaties with the following countries, residents of these countries are exempt from U.S. tax on Benefits. Canada, In Egypt, Germany, Ireland, Israel, In Italy, In Japan, Romania, United Kingdom. By virtue of a treaty with India, benefits paid to people who are resident and national India are exempt from US taxes. If the benefits are destined for services provided for the States, its subdivisions or authorities of local government. If you reside in Switzerland, the total amount of the provision will be taxed at a rate of 15%. To get more information about whether you are a non-resident foreigner, see Pub. 519, U.S. Tax Guide for Aliens. If part of your benefits are taxable, you must use Form 1040 or 1040-SR. If part of your benefits are subject to taxes, the amount depends on the total amount of your benefits and other income. Generally, the higher the total amount, the greater the taxable part of its benefits will be. Then you will find some examples that you can use as a guide to calculate the taxable part of your benefits. Be sure to consider the adjustment to revenue for beneficial contributions in Form 1040 or 1040-SR, line 10b, when deciding whether you should detail. Only that adjustment can be claimed if the standard deduction is taken. See the instructions for 1040 and 1040-SR forms, for more information. It must include the taxable part of a global (retroactive) benefit payment of benefits at 2020 in its income of 2020, even if the payment includes benefits of a previous year. . This type of payment of the global provision should not be confused with the global benefit due to death that both SSA and RRB pay many of their beneficiaries. No part of the global benefit due to death is subject to taxes. Generally, you use your income of 2020 to calculate the taxable part of the total benefits received by 2020. However, it may be able to calculate the taxable part of a fixed sum payment corresponding to a previous year, using its income corresponding to the previous year. You can choose this method if you reduce your taxable benefits. Under the method of fixed sum choice, you recalculate the taxable part of all your previous year (including the payment of the fixed sum) the income of that year. Then, subtract any taxable benefits for that year that you previously reported. The remainder is the taxable part of the lump sum payment. Add it to the taxable portion of your benefits for 2020 (figures (figures the lump sum payment of the previous year). . Because the previous year's taxable profits are included in your income for 2020, no adjustment is made to the previous year's return. Do not submit a modified declaration from the previous year. . Jane Jackson is single. In 2019, she applied for social security disability benefits, but was told that she did not meet the requirements. He appealed the decision and won. In 2020, he received a one-time payment of $6,000 of which $2,000 was for 2019 and $4,000 for 2020. Jane also received $5,000 in social security benefits in 2020, so her total benefits in 2020 were $11,000. Jane's other income for 2019 and 2020 are as follows. To see if the lump sum election method results in lower taxable profits, she completes worksheets 1, 2 and 4 of this publication. She does not need to complete worksheet 3 because her lump sum payment was for years after 1993. Jane completes worksheet 1 to find the amount of her taxable benefits for 2020 under the regular method. She completes worksheet 2 to find the taxable portion of the lump sum payment for 2019 under the lump sum election method. She completes worksheet 4 to decide whether the lump sum election method will reduce her taxable profits. After completing the worksheets, Jane compares the quantities of Worksheet 4, line 21; and Worksheet 1, line 19. Because the amount in worksheet 4 is smaller, she chooses to use the lump sum selection method. To do so, print "LSE" to the left of Form 1040 or 1040-SR, line 6a. Then enter $11,000 on Form 1040 or 1040-SR, line 6a, and your taxable profits of $2,500 on line 6b. Jane's completed worksheets (1, 2, and 4) follow. You may be entitled to deduct certain amounts related to the benefits you receive. In some cases, your Form SSA-1099 or Form RRB-1099 will show that the total benefits you repaid (box 4) are greater than the gross benefits (box 3) you received. If this happens, your net benefits in box 5 will be a negative figure (a figure in brackets) and none of the benefits will be taxable. Do not use worksheet 1 in this case. If you receive more than one form, a negative digit from box 5 of one form will be used to offset a positive digit from box 5 of another form for the same year. If you have any questions about this negative figure, please contact your local SSA office or your local RRB office. Blank worksheets 1 to 4 are provided in this section. Worksheet 1, Calculating your taxable profits. Worksheet 2, Calculate your additional taxable benefits (From a lump sum payment for one year after 1993). Worksheet 3, Calculate Your Additional Taxable Benefits (From a lump sum payment for one year before 1994). Worksheet 4, Calculate your taxable benefits under the Lump sum Election Method (Use with Worksheet 2 or 3). This appendix explains the elements shown on Forms SSA-1099 and RRB-1099. Forms SSA-1042S and RRB-1042S, for non-resident aliens, contain the same items plus some additional items. These are also explained. . The illustrated versions of forms SSA-1099, SSA-1042S, RRB-1099 and RRB-1042S in this appendix are trial copies of the forms as they appeared when this publication was printed. The information on the illustrated forms should be essentially the same as the information on the form you received from the SSA or RRB. However, you should compare the form you received with the one shown in this publication to notice any differences. All people who received social security benefits will receive an SSA-1099 form. If you receive benefits on more than one social security record, you can get more than one SSA-1099 form. IRS Notice 703 will be attached to this form. It contains a worksheet to help you determine if any of your benefits are taxable. Do not send Notification 703 to IRS or SSA. The name in this box refers to the person for whom the social security benefits shown in the extract were paid. If you received benefits for yourself, your name will be shown. This is the U.S. social security number, if you of the person referred to in box 1. In all correspondence with the SSA, be sure to use the claim number shown in box 8. The figure in this box is the total benefits paid in 2020 to you (the person mentioned in box 1). This figure may not match the amounts you actually received, as adjustments may have been made to your benefits before you received them. An asterisk (*) after the figure in this box means that it includes benefits received in 2020 for one or more previous years. The figure shown in this box is the total amount of benefits reimbursed to the SSA in 2020. This part of the form describes the elements included in the amount indicated in box 4. List the number of benefit checks you returned to the SSA and any adjustments for other types of refunds. The amounts listed include all amounts reimbursed in 2020, regardless of when benefits were received. Only refunds that apply to you will be shown. If you did not make any refunds, the word "none" will be displayed. The figure in this box is the net benefits paid to you during the year. This is the result of subtracting the figure in box 4 from the figure in box 3. Enter this amount on line A of the IRS Notice 703, or on line 1 of worksheet 1, shown above, or on the worksheet in the Instructions for Forms 1040 and 1040-SR. If the figure in box 5 is in brackets, it means that the figure in box 4 is larger than the figure in box 3. This is a negative figure and means that you paid more money than you received in 2020. If you have any questions about this negative figure, please contact your local SSA office. For more information, see Refunds More Than Gross Profits , above. This shows the total amount of tax about the retained income of your benefits. Include this amount in your income tax declaration such as retained taxes. This form is for non-resident foreigners. It contains the following four additional elements that do not appear in the SSA-1099 form. This is the kind to which the tax of 85% of its own was retained If more than one rate has been withheld during the year, the percentage indicated will be the December 2020 tax rate. The tax rate for most non-resident aliens is 30%. If you reside in Switzerland, the full amount of the benefit will be taxed at a rate of 15%. The figure "0" will appear in this box if you were not taxed in December or if you were exempt under a tax treaty. Benefits received by residents of Canada, Egypt, Germany, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Japan, Romania and the United Kingdom are exempt from U.S. tax. Under a treaty with India, benefits paid to persons who are residents and nationals of India are exempt from United States taxes if the benefits are for services rendered for the United States, its subdivisions or local government authorities. See Pub. 519 for more information on non-resident aliens. This is the amount of taxes that are deducted from your social security checks. Taxes are withheld for any month in which you were a non-resident foreign national (unless you were exempt under a tax treaty). An amount in this box shows any tax refunded to you by the SSA. When the SSA withholds taxes from your cheques by mistake, they try to refund them during the same calendar year. If the SSA is unable to send you the refund before the end of the year, you must file a federal income tax return to get a refund of this tax. The figure in this box is the result of subtracting the figure in box 8 from the figure in box 7. This is the net amount of taxes withheld from your profits. This section explains the elements shown on Form RRB-1099. Form RRB-1099 is issued to citizens and residents of the United States. If you received, you reimbursed or withheld taxes from the profit portion of the social insurance (SSEB) of railway pension benefits level 1 or special guarantee benefits during 2020, you will receive Form RRB-1099. If you received, refunded or had taxes withheld on any equivalent social security benefit (NSSEB) portion of level 1, level 2, dual conferred benefits or supplementary annuity during 2020, you will receive Form RRB-1099-R. Annuities or Pensions from the Railway Retirement Board. For more information on Form RRB-1099-R, see Pub. 575. Each beneficiary will receive their own Form RRB-1099. If you receive benefits on more than one railroad retirement record, you can get more than one Form RRB-1099. To make sure that you receive your form on time, make sure that the RRB always has your current mailing address. Your RRB claim number is a 6- or 9-digit number preceded by an alphabetical prefix and is the number under which the SSEB portion of level 1 benefits or Special Guarantee benefits was paid. Your beneficiary code is the number following your claim number and is used by the RRB to identify you under your claim number. In all your contacts with the RRB, be sure to use the claim number and beneficiary code shown in this box. This is the United States Social Security Number (SSN), the Taxpayer's Individual Identification Number (ITIN), or the Employer Identification Number (EIN), if known, for the person or property listed as the recipient. The figure shown in this box is the gross SSEB share of Level 1 benefits or Special Guarantee benefits paid in 2020. Is the amount before deductions were made for: federal tax withholding; Medicare premiums; Payments of attachment due to legal process; General minimum allocation payments; Recovery of an overpayment, including recovery of Railway Unemployment Insurance Act benefits received while waiting for payment of your railway pension annuity; and workers' compensation (explained in the description in Box 6, below). The figure in box 3 is the sum after deductions for: social security, age reduction, public service pensions or public disability benefits, double entitlement to railway pension with a different claim number RRB, working deductions, actuarial adjustment, exemption from annuities and payments for participation in legal proceedings. Social security benefits paid through the RRB are not reported in RRB-1099 or RRB-1042S. Information is provided on Form SSA-1099 or Form SSA-1042S issued by the SSA. Example 1. For the period from January to March 2020, he received $300 ($100 to 3 months) Railway Unemployment Insurance. You were eligible for the SSEB portion of Tier 1 benefits of $509 per month starting January 1, 2020, but did not receive your first payment until April 2020. The payment he received in April was for the first 3 months of 2020. However, because he received unemployment benefits during the same period, $300 was deducted from his down payment of benefits. Instead of receiving $ 1,527 ($ 509 to 3 months), he received $1,227 ($ 1,527 to $ 300). During the months of April to November, you were paid your regular monthly SSEB share of Level 1 benefits of $509. Table 3 of your RRB-1099 form will show you $5,599 ($ 509 11 months), as the gross SSEB share of Tier 1 benefits paid you in 2020, although you did not receive that amount. This is because Box 3 shows the gross amount of your benefits before the reductions for the unemployment benefits paid to you were made. Example 2. He received Tier 1 benefits of $600 per month during the months of January 2020 to June 20, 2020. Your monthly benefits of $600 TIER 1 consist of an SSEB share of $250 and an NSSEB share of $350. Beginning in July 2020, she was eligible for Medicare, and was deducted $144.60 a month from her benefit checks for Medicare premiums. Therefore, the Level 1 payments he received for the rest of the year were $455.40 ($600's $144.60 per month). Table 3 of your Form RRB-1099 will show the gross SSEB portion of Tier 1 benefits of $3,000 ($250 12 months), as it is the gross amount of SSEB before deductions from your Medicare premiums. Table 11 of your Form RRB-1099 will show your Medicare premiums of $867.60 ($144.60 6 months) deducted from July 20th to December 20th, of 2020. The rest of your NSSE 1 payments, the NSSEB share of $4,200 ($350 to 12 months), will be displayed at Form RRB-1099-R which you will receive along with your Form RRB-1099. The $4,200 is the gross amount of NSSEB before deductions for your Medicare premiums. (The Total Medicare Premium box shown on your RRB-1099-R will be blank because the Medicare total will be shown in box 11 of your RRB-1099 form.) For more information on Form RRB-1099-R, see Pub. 575. The figure shown in this table is SSEB's total share of Tier 1 benefits that it repaid to the RRB in 2020. You may have refunded a benefit by returning a payment, making a cash refund, or withholding an amount of your payments. In addition, you may have withheld an amount of your benefits to recover the SSEB overpayment incurred by someone else who is also receiving benefits under your claim number. In addition, an amount may have been withheld from another benefit, such as a social security benefit, to recover an SSEB overpayment you received. The amount in box 4 also includes SSEB benefits that you reimbursed in 2020 for 2020 or for one or more years prior to 2020. All level 1 reimbursements for years prior to 1986 are fully considered as SSEB benefits. Example 1. He returned to work for his last railway employer during the months of June to August 2020. The SSEB portion of your Tier 1 benefits was $450 for each of those months. Since you are not allowed to receive benefits for any month you return to rail service, you have to make a refund to the RRB. You returned the benefit payment from June to August 2020. Box 4 of your Form RRB-1099 will show $1,350 ($450 in 3 months) as the SSEB portion of the Tier 1 benefits you refunded to the RRB. Example 2. From January to April 2020, he was paid more than $800 on SSEB's share of Tier 1 benefits. Since May On August 8, 2020, $200 a month was withheld from your benefit payment to fully recover the $800 overpayment. Box 4 of your Form RRB-1099 will show $800 ($200 AA 4 months) as the SSEB portion of the Tier 1 benefits you reimbursed to the RRB. Example 3. Like a railway employee, you have been receiving a railway pension annuity, including an SSEB share of Tier 1 benefits, since 2019. She was also entitled to, and received from the SSA, a social security benefit of $300 per month beginning May 1, 2020. Subsequently, the SSA authorized the RRB to pay the benefit. In August 2020, the RRB began paying you your social security benefit and reduced the SSEB portion of your Level 1 monthly benefit by $300. The RRB withheld $900 ($300 AA 3 months) social security benefits covering the period from May to July 2020 to compensate for its $900 SSEB overpayment during the same period. Box 4 of your Form RRB-1099 will show $900 as the SSEB portion of the Tier 1 benefits you reimbursed to the RRB. Note. The SSA will send you Form SSA-1099, which will include the $900 in benefits paid by them during the months of May to July 2020. The figure shown in this box is the net amount of the SSEB's share of level 1 benefits paid to you in 2020. It is the result of subtracting the amount in box 4 from the amount in box 3. If you received more than one RRB-1099 for 2020, you must add the amounts in box 5 of all RRB-1099 forms to determine the net amount of SSEB payments for 2020. Use this amount to determine if any of your profits are taxable. See Any of Your Benefits Are Taxable, above. If the figure in box 5 is in brackets, it means that the figure in box 4 is larger than the figure in box 3. This is a negative figure and means that you paid more money than you received in 2020. For more information, see Refunds More Than Gross Profits , above. The figure shown in this box is the amount you received in workers' compensation benefits during the year that it was used to offset the full amount of your payments. Level 1. The SSEB portions of your level 1 benefits shown in boxes 3 and 5 include amounts by which your SSEB payments were reduced for workers' compensation benefits. The amount of compensation of your workers is shown in this box box for your information only. If you did not receive workers' compensation benefits, box 6 is blank. Example. By 2020, your level 1 benefit of $450 per month is reduced to $400 due to a $50 per month worker compensation. Boxes 3 and 5 of your Form RRB-1099 will show $5,400 ($450 at 12 months) as the SSEB portion of Tier 1 benefits paid to you by the RRB. The $5,400 is the amount before the deductions for workers' compensation were made. Box 4 will show zero because you did not make any refunds during the year. Box 6 of your form will show $600 ($50 workers' compensation A 12 months). To calculate whether any of your benefits are taxable, you should use $5,400 (Box 5) as the amount of the SSEB portion of the Tier 1 benefits paid to you. The figure shown in each applicable box is the amount of SSEB benefits paid in 2020 for 2019 or 2018. This amount shall be included in the amount indicated in box 3. The figure shown in this box is the amount of SSEB benefits paid in 2020 for 2017 and earlier years after 1983. This amount shall be included in the amount indicated in box 3. Any level 1 benefit paid for a period prior to 1986 will be assimilated to the SSEB. The figure shown in this table is the total amount of U.S. federal income tax withheld on your 2020 SSEB Level 1 or Special Guarantee Benefit Payments. This total is based on the amount of SSEB tax withholding requested on the IRS Form W-4V, Request for Voluntary Withholding. Include this amount on your income tax return as withheld taxes. This is the total amount of Part B, Part C, and/or Part D Medicare premiums deducted from your railroad retirement annuity payments shown on your Form RRB-1099. This form is non-resident foreigners. It has been the subject of recent revisions. If your country of legal residence changed or your withholding tax rate changed during the year, you may receive more than one Form RRB-1042S. To determine your total amounts for the year, add the amounts shown on all the RRB-1042S forms you received That year. The figure in this box indicates that the amounts are SSEB payments or pension payments. The figure shown in this box indicates the amounts shown in the statement were withheld in accordance with the rules of Chapter 3. The status code shown in each applicable box indicates that the RRB is a U.S. withholding agent. This is the amount of taxes withheld from your employment income on the railroad that exceeds the amount of taxes that would have been withheld if the income were covered by the social security system. The amount shown is the total amount of your employee contribution attributable to a railway account number and must be shared by all eligible pensioners to use it. This is the last amount reported for 2020 and may have increased or decreased from a previous Form RRB-1042S. A change in the amount may affect the non-taxable part of the contribution amounts paid. You may need to recalculate the non-taxable amount and/or file original or amended tax returns using the amount reported on this form. If this box is blank, it means that the contribution amount paid and the gross total paid are fully taxable. For more information, see Pub. 575, Pensions and Annuities; and Pub. 939, General Rule for Pensions and Annuities. Your RRB claim number is a 6- or 9-digit number preceded by an alphabetical prefix and is the number under which the SSEB portion of level 1 benefits or Special Guarantee benefits was paid. Your beneficiary code is the number following your claim number and is used by the RRB to identify you under your claim number. In all your contacts with the RRB, be sure to use the claim number and beneficiary code shown in this box. This is the social security number of the United States the Taxpayer's Individual Identification Number (ITIN), or the Employer's Identification Number (EIN), if known, for the person or property listed as the recipient. The status code shown in this box indicates the amounts shown on the form were paid to a person The beneficiary's date of birth. The figure indicated This box represents the total amount of benefits paid in 2020. Includes all benefits paid in 2020 corresponding to previous years. Is the amount before deductions were made for: federal tax withholding; Medicare premiums; Payments of attachment due to legal process; General minimum allocation payments; Recovery of an overpayment, including recovery of benefits from the Railway Unemployment Insurance Act received while waiting for payment of your railway pension annuity; and workers' compensation. The figure in box 10 is the sum after deductions for: social security benefits, age reduction, public service pensions or public invalidity benefits, double railway pension entitlement with a different claim number RRB, deductions employment, actuarial adjustment, exemption from annuities and payments for participation in legal proceedings. Social Security benefits paid through the RRB are not reported on Form RRB-1099 or RRB-1042S. They are reported on Form SSA-1099 or Form SSA-1042S issued by the SSA. The figure shown in this box is the total amount of benefits you repaid to the RRB in 2020, including benefits you repaid in 2020 from previous years. You may have refunded a benefit by returning a payment, making a cash refund, or withholding an amount of your annuity for overpayment recovery purposes. In addition, you may have withheld an amount of your benefits to recover an overpayment incurred by someone else who is also receiving benefits under your claim number. The amount in box 11 also includes SSEB benefits that you reimbursed in 2020 for 2020 or for one or more years prior to 2020. All level 1 reimbursements for years prior to 1986 are in its entirety SSEB benefits. The figure shown in this box is the net amount of the features paid by 2020. It is the result of subtracting the amount of box 11 of the amount of box 10. If you received more from a RRB-1042S form for 2020, you must add the quantities in the box 12 of all RRB-1042S forms to determine your net Payments for 2020. Use this amount to determine if any of its benefits are taxable. See any of its benefits are taxable, previously. If the figure 12 is between standing, it means that the figure in box 11 is greater than that in box 10. This is a negative figure and means that you paid more money from which you received in 2020. To get more information, consult more refunds than gross benefits, previously. The figure shown in this box is the total amount of the US Federal Tax. Retained from its benefits in 2020 while it was a known or supposed resident for tax purposes that is shown in Box 14. If you have not been Retained taxes, it will be shown -0- in this box. If you received more from a RRB-1042S form for 2020, add the amounts in box 13 of all RRB-1042S forms to determine the total US federal taxes. Retained from SSEB payments for 2020.
