Human nature to organize things. Kitchen meticulously organize your spices in several groupings, be alphabetically or according to the frequency with which they are used. Children turn off their piggy banks and rate their riches into peasants, nies, nain, coins and quarters. Even the items in a grocery store are grouped in a certain way. Head down the international corridor, and you will find packages of chinese egg noodle, sitting next to taco shells.chemists, as it happens, are also organizational addicts. They look for similar physical and chemical properties among the elements, the basic forms of matters, and then fit in similar groups. Osscientistas began to try to organize the elements at the end of 1800 when they knew about 60. His efforts, however, were pretermious since they were losing a key piece of information: the structure of the articles. As the initial efforts failed, an attempt for a Russian chemistry named Dmitry Mendelejev showed a lot of promise. Although Mendelejev was not 100% correct, his approach has placed the bases for what is now the modern peripardic table of elements.Today, the peripardic table organizes 112 named elements and recognizes several more unnamed. It has become one of the most Ové's chemistry tools, not only for students, but also for the chemistry of work. Classifies the elements according to their atomic number (more on this soon), tells us about the nuclear composition of any given element, describes how the Eléms are organized around a given element And it allows us to predict how an element will react to another. exactly what is this organization made? Continue reading while we examine the history, organization and uses of this more useful chemical tool. Correct answer: Accompany the latest daily newspaper with the Buzzfeed Daily Newsletter! Only the thought of looking at the peripardic table makes us bustle because of everything that has to be remembered. But thinking about how it helped us to know so much information, just looking at him, it gives us some relief sensation. So, thinking about it that way, the peripinal tables are not a confusing problem - they are a useful problem - Solver. What if we do interesting things and give the periological table a turnaround to the front? Sounds crazy, right? Well, we recently found this amazing periodic table of Sophie and Trey that every style enthusiast would love. The best part about this table is that you have everything you need to free you from your daily misfortunes, from color tones belonging to all categories such as jewelry, neutral, brilliant and soft, to fashion items To help you decide well with what and how to access your complete appearance. It is more like your virtual closet that answers the most important question that you normally do not receive an easy answer to: À ¢ à ¢ "What should I wear today?" Htp: //sophieandtrej.com/blog/ Periodic-FashionWith Table The help of this table, we decided to put it out of your misery Sartal and help you decide how you can dress daily, keeping yourself connected with the trends . Well, they say you're not fully dressed until you use the right accessories, so why do not we see how these everyday clothes can be combined with the right accessories (the purpose, nÁfá € They say that, but you need accessories to complete your look along with smile, then why not). Yes, there is an easy equation for that. If you have the essentials classified, the rest is a piece of cake. You can pair your favorite top with your less favorite bottom, come with a black-all-black look and can also access a pretty casual outfit, making it look fantasy. So let's give it the equation: Basic + Dressy + Fixer + Accessories = your wardrobe for every day now that you have a clear equation, let's work on This achievement of dressing perfectly every day without much effort.1. Begin with Básico Básico Básico Wardrobe is usually based on neutral colors and staple pieces. If you take a look at the table, several ideas to adorn your basic clothing needs will come up in your head. A Basic Top at ivory, skirt in carvan gray pencil with a blue pair of ink of pointed puts and a bag or messenger will make a work appearance without effort. If you are looking for a more lush demand for your everyday needs, build your basic wardrobe with a blend of bright and neutral or brilliant tones. What You Will Need Basic Tops and Blouses Sweat Shirts Tees Maxi T-Shirts Skirts Culottes Tailored Peels Sliced Shoes A pair of dark washed and luminous jeans washed and minimum jeans is really The new black for this season. However, the rule has an elegant change for her: the simpler the clothing, the dressier the accessories. However, for a daily look, keep subtle, doing nothing looks out of proportion. The table has all the right accessories for you to choose. Keeping with the trends, the white white button is definitely one thing because the clues had all of them, of shirts, dresses, to coats and jacket. The Classic down button certainly lifted your way to the top. The pantone colors of this year: Serenity and Rose Quartz can be easily integrated into your basic wardrobe because of your still versatile comofring appeal. Colors can be used formally and casually. 2. Dealing with DressyThis is the category where you can be as creative as you want. You can get your hands in color, prints, textures, patterns, brightness or just about anything that can easily work as chic or vivid. For his pretty recoletor look, he comes with the jewelry and shiny tone. If you really need to turn the colors, you'll pay them with soft tones. Tangerine, blood orange, loving and green emerald are colors that have an appeal by excellence for them and are just the right tones for the night and wear of the night. What will you need dresses in black sequins of sequins Maxi Dresses LBDS LWDS Shows Slows Dresses Aterthere is still a love affair with the 70's happening in the fashion world. Season designers were particularly interested - incorporating the 90s and 70s with some modern changes in their creations.
