Android app navigeren

Android has been around for more than a year, and at that moment the developers whiped some large apps. Whether you are a new Android owner or a pro looking for new tools, these 10 fantastic and free apps belong to your Arsenal.Photo of Lwallenstein. To jump immediately above the apps that are so common, universal, and well replicated on the iPhone or other mobile platforms that a user with a need probably we can do - Facebook, Yelp, Evernote, remembers milk and endless twitter clients, Widget and app. We also skipped on Google's ordered apps, like Google Voice, navigation and glasses, which are (or will) included the standard on new Android phones. Instead, we are aiming to shine a small light on apps that can easily offer excellent functionality for those who download them.Update: I moved taskiller for free up to a lower ranking, and modify its entry description a little, after some more Searches, off from some comments and emails Andro-savvy.10. Layarin Some ways, this is a vote for the potential of layar as much as the practical application. Walking through your phone and see Wikipedia's subjects, apartments for sale and what Twitter users have delighted through your phone is a rather accurate thing, and potentially useful when you're looking for things to do in a new city. But as Layar continues to add new levels, and how the camera and mobile processing power continue to improve, Layar could become much more interesting than already. One thing worth remembering is that if you don't like the view of the 3D camera, or as the appearance of yourself while you use it. Layar can only show the points of interest on a Google type map. Anyway that you use it, it's an intriguing aspect to what is happening around the corner. Listening to the last update, we couldn't really call to listen to a king among the podcast apps ... had some Irkensome bugs, one of them is the loss of episodes and sometimes subscriptions. Now, however, your Google app does a great job not only to find audio content, but Export your subscriptions to manage in Google Reader, guaranteeing a full feed backup and easier recovery of past episodes you want to go back And listen. If you need a fine fine grain podcast control, Acast test, but listen to most. AnyCutyou You can drop a lot of things ordered on your home android home screen, but you can't get a click with one click all in the settings and in the extras of your phone. Anycut does not have an excellent interface, and it may require some process and error before arriving exactly what you are looking for. Quite soon, however, you will have access to the deeper guts of your settings, then switch forward and turning off and turn off, enabling location services and other tricks are easy to extract. FreeThe As Desside tariller at Android multi-tasking is that at times, some apps can become unexpectedly become magni of memory or bandwidth or bring the phone with them when they lock. Few apps provide a direct and easy "chit" option, however, and sometimes you can't get to the To close it. Enter taskiller, a free app murder utility that works from its standard icon, or as a series of numerous widgets you can add to the home screen to save the system with a single click. The free version serves advertisements and lacks some advanced features, but generally serves the needs of anyone who tires you to need to actually reset the phone just to clarify space for, know, phone calls and such. Note: This app must be used as more than a last resort than the regular maintenance tool, killing processes and Willy-Nilly apps can disable alarms, kill background synchronization and have other non-intentional consequences.5. Slidescreenyou uses your Android smartphone differently from your desktop computer. Don't work with files and shortcuts, so that check-in on data flows that interests you - E-mail, text messages, Facebook and Twitter, chats and the like. Slidescreen replaces, or simply increasing, if you wish, the main phone screen, creating line after the message line and feed. Slide the central information bar upwards and down to look more or less of your items, scroll right to dismiss items like beds and finish having all your data on your hand at once. Slidescreen also replaces the standard application tray, offering 8 slots to put your apps most frequently accessible and tucked up all the others in a rolling bridge below. It's a total makeover for your phone, in other words - one that could simply make you fall in love with the concept of mobile data. Shoperokay, at the beginning we were rather skeptical of the application of Google's Shopper, since it only seemed a mashup of his Google glasses and Google's smart-smart apps like Shopsavvy. Then we actually used the shopper, and we were amazed both from what is accurately considered both barcodes and simple hedging shots, and how much it worked very quickly. It turns out, according to a developer who appeared in this week in Google, shopper is actually loading the image data on Google servers as it captures and decodes the barcode on the phone. The speed for the speed sake is beautiful, of course, but it's nice enough not to have to stand in front of a display of a book for a whole two minutes, waving the phone around a group of books you are trying to do the competitive price. The buyer answers the question "I can buy this cheapest", and responds quickly.Android: Google has already got got glasses for visual search and the Google Shopper's mobile site can be run ... PDANETPDANET is the simplest way to use your phone's net mobile connection as an Internet Makershift access point, for those hard-up situations when you just need to get somehow online, anyway. The free version always offers basic Internet access, but limits secure site connections after a trial period. The paid version is not cheap ($ 30), but it is the simplest of the three ways we know how to tell an Android phone. Astro File ManagerThis is one of those app Hope has a bit of attention, if only to be purchased from Google or otherwise integrated into the base phone software. Astro File Manager does a great job to allow you to navigate the files on the SD card and the internal memory accessible, surely, but it also has your own integrated killer task, backing up applications, can send files as e-mail attachments (not everything Easy or intuitive from the mail client, for some reason) and much more. It is the Leatherman of Android utilities and a must-have on any serious Geek phone. To each of them, obviously, but we would like to hear which Android apps consider crucial to your phone in the comments. We tend to free, but if you have found a cheap app that is worth a few dollars, our loving Android readers and developers, they would probably be happy for the referral. News in the digital age has become faster, so it is not surprising that more and more users get their news on their phones rather than on their televisions. And while news aggregators such as printing and newsstands have their place, today we will try to get our news directly from the source. These are the best apps of professional news organizations, at least from the humble opinions of the Central Android staff. A word before entering the apps themselves for the so-called "push notifications". While almost all these apps will ask you for the push notification permit to first use, anyone who has used it can attest as overwhelming and in many repetitive or unnecessary cases can be. Unless you work in news or in a adjacent news field, we recommend using only one news app for "Breaking News" push notifications. You should select your app for personal favorite news or news app with the amount (or control) of push notifications more to your liking. And now, for the news of the day ... BBC The BBC is one of the most used newspapers in the world, and it could be because BBC is a name all over the world in news, but also because they have a small one Bang-up app with few bells and whistles. The homepage is like a giant tower of spinning articles: each section has a row and then pulls it around looking for one that interests you. You can customize the sound for push notifications and you can set up if the app can update or not in the background and if you want to receive a notification when it does. However, you can not set up if you update only to wifi rather than using your valuable mobile data, so I prefer the nice big upgrade button on the upper bar. Huffington Post This is a liberal privileged source, but damn if their app is not perfect for the perfect. The post Huffington will allow you to log in, but it's not intrusive if you don't want. You can have your personalized edition and easily change them in all the various editions around the world. You can change the fonts to your liking, just like everyone else, but you know what the Huffington Post is special? It has a dark mode. And he's not only one, he has two: he darkened and has the night. Even better, you can automatically trigger the night mode based on the environmental light sensor, then change according to your environment. It only makes me want to encourage; It is so rare and wonderful to find a news app that does not want to blind your readers with tons of white. Beyond the darkness, Huffpo has some other fun things. You can customize push notifications with a specific ringtone and decide whether vibrates or not. It can automatically download articles on a choice interval and has the chance to download only via wifi, for conscious data users. ABC News ABC News is another rare news app with a dark theme, and has something even more rare: Chromecast support. Å Launch the video segments directly from the app to your TV, allowing you to approach my little personal dream to simply launch custom playlists like your Newscast. ABC has a customizable silent mode, assuming to enable push notifications for this, and also allows you to locate the location position For more localized results for the details of your region. ABC news often have one or more live streams in progress, which is particularly useful for listening to things like press conferences or breakage of news cuts while away from home or in an incredibly noisy editorial. You can also restore sections from popular ABC news programs such as the news of the world and this week. The app also gives you a daily rewind at any time of the day you prefer. If you are a person who gets up and checks the news, you can have the daily rewind, they give you a version for the cliff-notes of yesterday's titles and last night. Or daily rewind can be filled in the evening for you to skim before going to bed. AP Mobile App AP is simple, but it works. No night theme, only an ON / OFF switch for notifications and a basic cursor for character size adjustments, but gets the job done in a pinch. AP, Associated Press, is one of the sources of news that most other news organizations subscribe, and the lucky thing is that using the AP app, you can get this news faster in some cases, especially if you direct yourself in the release section print. Be aware, however, the press release section does not have a real filter, so it may be necessary to set up the versions for entertainment and sports while you are looking for printed communicated. You can also report news for AP through the app, if you are a person who does that kind of thing. Use this app today is another app with a lot of white, but not without its merits. Today's US Layout is great, which is not a bad thing with all adorable images, but it means you will scroll more than on a more condensed layout. The sections and subsections are well done and easy to navigate, but the settings leave something to be desired. Offline reading for the the US APP TODAY is also a bit different, as it is necessary to select it from the drop-down menu and then manually start the download while it is still in wifi for the next reading, so if you forgot to synchronize you Before you train, you're sol. The Guardian this app is almost offensively white, but the design elements, animations and the fluid nature of the app almost compensate. The Guardian manages to break some of the whites with color blocks, in particular bright red boxes with Liveblogs. There is usually one in the news section and one in the Sports section, and I am one of the best negligents live that I saw in a mobile app so far. Like the BBC, you can automatically update but you can't denote if you only update wifi. If you have a premium account, you can unlock more content, including the crossword puzzles, which some say are the most important part of a newspaper. And since it is digital, you will never have to worry about doing it to the pen. The Guardian also has a slight unique on his competition with an Android clothing app, so you can get the news on your wrist. New York Times The New York Times is one of the prizes of the country, and as such, has a prize to its content. NYT subscriptions can be performed from $ 14.99 a month for a huge $ 34.99 a month, and while most of us simply can't afford to pay for a news app, the times are worth the Penalty for many, and for the price your payment, you are receiving a decent app. You have settings for the background synchronization only on Wi-Fi and you have a night mode (Huzzah). The navigation sections in the app can be a bit boring, if not for any other reason compared to the list of sections is massive, but unless you spend a lot of times in blogs, you should feel good. What news is good news? So where do you take 411 what's going on in the world? You are a Or an observer? Do you also read the news? Otherwise, you should really start, and there are many apps here to help you get updates on all the trend news of the day. news. news.
