Takana is a gamer and a "World of Warcraft" player who has done many a rep grind.Ironforge scenery in "World of Warcraft": Roxanne Ready (CC Share)Why Become Exalted? One of my goals in World of Warcraft is to become exalted with as many reputations as possible. I love looking at my character's reputation sheet and seeing those little green bars being fully filled with Exalted stamped across them.Maybe you're a completist like me, maybe you're bored, or maybe you would just like to earn the title The Exalted. Either way, here is my guide to maxing out your reputations.As anyone who currently plays the game will know, you can earn many achievements based on the things you do. The achievement I will be discussing here is the 50 Exalted Reputations.My Character's AchievementWoW ArmoryHow Many Reputations Do You Need to Become "The Exalted?"In previous patches, you were awarded the title the Exalted when you reached 40 Exalted Reputations. It then got moved to 45 Exalted Reps. Then, with patch 4.0.6, the news came that you can only get this title when you reach 50 Exalted Reputations. The reason for this was due to the ease of getting your reps maxed out, especially with the addition of 7 new reputations with Cataclysm. So Blizzard raised the bar (and removed some old reps from the game just to make it more challenging).However, this move has since been reverted, so you can still get this title at only 40 Exalted Reps. The achievements still go on, granting the title the Beloved at 60 reps, the Admired at 80 reps, and Esteemed at 100 reps. Here, we're only focusing on the first 50. Although if you're like me, you'll eventually desire to have ALL of your reputations maxed out anyway!My character's ReputationIn gameWays to Exalt Your RepsOn your journey to max level, you will naturally become exalted with various factions as you complete quests, run dungeons or PvP along the way. To see who you are currently exalted with, have a look on your character's reputation sheet by pressing (u) in game, or by looking on your Armory profile.There are many ways to farm rep in World of Warcraft, most of which are repetitive and time consuming. Farming dungeons, killing certain mobs, turning in specific items and completing quests are all ways of raising your reputations. Some are quick and easy; others require a lot of time and effort to grind.I have divided up the following reputations into several different categories:Dungeon Farming Raid Farming Repeatable Quests Daily Quests Mob Farming In this part of the guide, I am only covering Dungeon and Raid farming factions. Please also see my guide on raising your reputation with factions by doing Repeatable and Daily Quests and Mob Farming, too.Factions that have multiple methods of farming rep will appear in more than one category.Stratholme Instance Loading ScreenIn gameDungeon FarmingDungeon Farming for reputation involves completing various 5 man instances over and over until you reach exalted reputation with the associated faction. For a max-level character, this is one of the easiest methods of farming rep, as you will be able to solo clear all lower-level instances. Always go for a full clear, meaning you should aim to kill every mob in an instance. Almost every mob you kill will award rep.Dungeon farming, while easy, is also monotonous and can get boring fast. My advice is to turn up the music or put a film on and before you know it, you will be running the dungeon on auto pilot and be at exalted in no time.To Loot or Not to Loot?This question often comes up. To be honest, it's entirely up to you. I personally choose to loot as many mobs as I can when I'm farming dungeons. Yes, you can breeze through lower level instances a lot quicker if you don't stop to loot, but I like the little extra income I can get by looting silver, cloth, vendor trash and the multitude of greens and blues along the way. Most instances have vendors near by for you to repair and empty your bags. You'd be amazed at how much gold you can rack up if you stop to loot.Right Click your character's portrait for instance optionsIn gameHow to Select Normal and Heroic ModeRight click your character portrait, mouse over Dungeon Difficulty and then select either 5 Player for normal mode, or 5 Player (heroic) for heroic mode.How to Reset an InstanceOnce you have completed a normal instance, you are able to reset it and complete it again. To do this, exit the instance, either by hearingt out or by running back to the entrance. Then, right click on your character portrait and click on Reset all Instances. You will get a pop up box asking if you really want to reset all instances. Click yes (you should also see yellow confirmation text in your chat box). Now your instance has been reset!!Note: Be aware that you are only allowed to enter 5 instances per hour. Meaning for those of you farming low level dungeons, you are likely to hit this cap. Simply wait out the hour, go take a break, do real life things or work on another faction! :pHorde / Alliance FactionsYou are able to Champion these factions by wearing the associated Tabard and running low level, old world instances (up to level 60) until you reach Exalted.Bilgewater Cartel / Gilneas Darkspear Trolls / Darnassus Orgrimmar / Stormwind Silvermoon City / Exodar Thunder Bluff / Gnomeregan Undercity / Ironforge Classic FactionsNeutral - Exalted: Farm Stratholme and ScholomanceTip: Kill Lord Aurius Rivendare (formerly Baron Rivendare) in Stratholme for the chance to get the Deathcharger's Reins!The Burning Crusade FactionsNeutral - Friendly: Farm normal Coilfang Reservoir dungeons - Slave Pens, Underbog and SteamvaultsHonored - Exalted: Farm heroic Coilfang Reservoir dungeonsNeutral - Exalted: Farm both normal and heroic Old Hillsbrad and Black MorassPrimarily a repeatable quest faction, but you can farm The Underbog for Sanguine Hibiscus all the way to Exalted.Neutral - Honored: Farm normal Mana TombsHonored - Exalted: Farm heroic Mana TombsTip: You can also hand in Obsidian Warbeads to increase rep. Firstly, raid instances are much harder to complete and will almost certainly require the help of several players. Some classic raids such as Molten Core and Ruins of Ahn'Qiraj (AQ20) can be done solo by some classes, but others need a group to complete.Secondly, raid instances can only be cleared once a week. However, one way to get around this is to only clear trash mobs. Kill all mobs up to the first boss, run out, reset the instance, go in and kill trash again. Once you've killed a boss, all trash mobs before said boss can't be reset until the normal weekly reset. Thirdly, you need to be in a raid group of two or more players to be able to enter a raid instance.Note: The instance cap also applies to raid instances.How to Make a Raid GroupAs mentioned above, before you can enter a raid instance, you need to convert your group to a raid. To be able to do this, you need at least one other person to group with you. Once you have your group, click on the Social tab ( O ), then on the Raid tab, now click on the Convert to Raid button at the top of the page. You are now in a raid group!!If you don't wish to farm with other people, you can ask a friend, guildie or a nice person in trade chat if they can join your group with an alt character (one that is high enough level to enter a raid). They can then log offline with that alt, but they will still remain in your raid. You are then free to solo a raid of your choice.AQ20 instance portalln gameClassic FactionsAssociated Raid(s): Ruins of Ahn'qiraj (AQ20) and Temple of Ahn'qiraj (AQ40)Players begin at 0/36000 Hated, the lowest level of reputation possible.Hated - 0 / 3000 Neutral: Repeatable quest - The Path of the RighteousHated - 2999 / 3000 Neutral: Trash mobs in AQ40Hated - Exalted: Qiraji Lord's Insignia: Drops from bosses in AQ40Ancient Qiraji Artifact: Drops from trash in AQ20 and AQ40Tip: Save all of the Insignias you get from farming, and don't hand them in until after you are Neutral. It seems like no matter what I do I never earn any rep for AD. I've solo'd strath and scholo multiple times to no progress. Any advice?moldservices from USA on January 23, 2013:This is by far the most thorough guide out there. Already helped me a lot!!folk from Florida on September 15, 2012:Fantastic Hub! Have been playing for 4 years but not lately. I have worked on maxing professions but never Rep, will definitely take another look at this if I do decide to. Thanks for all your hard work. Voted up,John Roberts from South Yorkshire, England on July 22, 2012:Some great tips! Keep up the good work ^ ^SparseChange on July 17, 2012:Nice guide! One thing to note however, Argent Dawn rep changed in Cataclysm. To get AD rep, follow the questline in Eastern Plagueland until you become revered. After that you must complete repeatable quests Aberrations of Bone and Annals of the Silver Hand. Other than that spot on!johndwilliams from Essex England on March 13, 2012:Amazing wealth of information for any WoW player or anybody looking to write well structured comprehensive hubs! RjVeneficus333 from United States on June 17, 2011:Nice job!!Takana (author) from England on June 17, 2011:Thank you :) yes it has taken me a while to write this. It's been in my head for ages so I'm glad I've finally written it up. And yes, I did do the Shen'dralar rep grind. It truly did drive me insane!mSkills from North Carolina, USA on June 17, 2011:Good Lord, this must have taken some time to put together! Everything looks spot on according to my recollection of playing WoW. I wasn't a particularly ambitious Achievement junkie, and only managed to get around 25 or so factions to exalted before I quit in 2010.OH, and very impressive earning the Insane title. Did you happen to obtain it when the Shen'dralar rep was still required?
