Below are two different ways to cast Chrome from your Android phone or tablet to TV. Cast Chrome Browser from Android Phone to TV Casting Chrome browser to TV basically lets you see your Android phone screen on the big screen of your TV at home. In practice, this means that everything you play on your smartphone (movie, video, website) is displayed on the big screen of your TV at home. Here are two different ways to cast Chrome to TV from your Android phone or tablet. Note. This article assumes that you already have a Chromecast connected to your TV's HDMI port and are setting up a Chromecast on your Android phone. 1. Cast Chrome browser to TV. The easiest way to cast Chrome browser from Android phone or tablet to TV is built-in "Cast" feature available on most Android devices. 1. Open Settings on your Android phone or tablet and tap View. 2. Touch Broadcast on the display screen. 3. On the next screen, click Chromecast to cast your Android phone's screen to your TV. 4. Now open the Chrome browser on your Android phone and visit any website or play any video. You will see your android phone screen mirrored or cast to the big screen of your tv. Note. If the Cast option is not available on Samsung Galaxy and other Android devices, you can use the second method as shown below. 2. Send the Chrome browser to your TV using the Google Home app. If your Android phone or tablet does not support Cast, you can use the Google Home app to cast your Android screen to your TV. 1. Open the Google Play Store on your Android phone -> download and install the Google Home app on your Android device. 2. Open the Google Home app on your Android phone and tap your Chromecast device. Note. If you have multiple devices, scroll down to find your Chromecast device. 3. On the next screen, click Share My Screen. 4. In the confirmation pop-up window, click Submit Screen. Now when you open the chrome browser on your android phone and visit any website or play a video. You will immediately see the image on the big screen TV. You can stop streaming at any time by going to the Home app and clicking Stop Mirroring. Screen mirroring with Chromecast is available on most Android devices running Android 4.4.2 or later. Chromecast can't mirror Android screen to TV Some Android phones may have trouble mirroring Android screen to TV. You should be able to resolve this issue by following these steps. 1. Open Settings on your Android phone or tablet and tap Apps (or Apps). 2. On some devices, you may need to tap Application Manager. 3. On the Application Manager screen, find Google Play and click on it. 4. On the next screen, tap on Permissions Manager (or Permissions). 5. On the next screen, enable the "Microphone" option by turning the switch to "ON". You should then be able to cast Chrome to your TV. TV.
