Block outgoing sms android app. How to block outgoing text messages on android. How to block outgoing sms. How to block sms on android. How to block outgoing international sms on android. Can you block outgoing text messages.

I have a strange request. Someone knows about an application that can block incoming and outgoing calls and texts from certain numbers, as well as being password protected (e.g., you need a password to edit, enable, deactivate or add to this "black list". I currently use the autodesign feature that comes with Android (which is not password protected) as well as SMS Handcent that blocks incoming text notifications (and can password protect this blacklist). However, you can still read the texts that someone on this blacklist sent if you look at them in their contacts and click Messenger. None of these prevents the outgoing traffic of any kind. I would like an application that can block incoming and outgoing calls and texts that can also be password protected. Preferably an application that automatically removes any text message instead of simply blocking notifications like Handcent does. If someone knows about an application that can do any of these features, or knows an open-source code that has one of these features (I am a C# developer and I could probably pick up in Java quite quickly) please let me know. Edit: just to clarify, I don't want to block ALL incoming and outgoing calls/text, just incoming and outgoing calls/texts from some numbers.
