Beauty plus apps 2019

Thanks to these seven apps, your smartphone just got way smarter: We rounded up the quickest ways to book a haircut appointment, organize your lipsticks, and more.August 21, 2014Photos: Courtesy of Skinbetter, L'Oréal, Beautybooked, Think Dirty, Facetune, Stash, Drugstore Dupes, Modiface(Free)You don't even have to upload a photo: Makeup Genius applies everything from cat eyes to bold red lipstick and pink blush (or all three!) in—get this—real time. Using your smartphone's front-facing camera, the app scans 64 points on your face to perfectly swipe on lipstick, blush, eye shadow, and liner. Because it all happens live, you can test out each look at different angles, which is, well, just genius.Available for iPhone(Free)Full disclosure: We teamed up with SkinBetter to create this one—but we think you'll be just as impressed with the high-tech skin-analysis tool as we were. Just snap a photo of yourself, create a skin profile, and let the app do its thing: It uses dermatologist-grade scanning technology to identify your biggest skin issues (including wrinkles, redness, and dark spots), then serves up recommendations for products that will treat them. It all happens in seconds, and you can even purchase products right on the spot!Available for iPhone and Android.(Free)If you live in New York City, L.A., Houston, or Dallas, BeautyBooked is a good place to start your search for a salon or spa—and we're not just saying that because it features the Allure Directory reviews. You can browse by salon name or treatment, check out reviews (from us and other users), flip through salon and spa photos, and book a service—even for a particular stylist or technician—directly through the app. And if you don't live in New York City, L.A., Houston, or Dallas, stay tuned: More cities are coming soon!Available for iPhone(Free)Before your mind gets stuck in the gutter, this app determines how toxic your beauty products are—a pretty brilliant idea, since ingredient details aren't always easy to find. Scan a product's barcode or search the database by product name; the app ranks its ingredients from one to ten on a "Dirty Meter," as well as offering greener alternatives. The library isn't the most extensive, but you can submit nonreviewed products for consideration as you scan your way through your vanity.Available for iPhone($2.99)We know, Photoshopping an iPhone pic just so you can post it on Instagram is a bit much. But FaceTune offers an impressive suite of editing tools—no computer necessary. You can smooth complexions, make zits disappear, correct red eye, and brighten teeth so fast, it's hardly high-maintenance.Available for iPhone, Android, and Windows Phone(Free)According to an allure.com poll, 38 percent of women have too many products to count in their makeup bag. Enter this app, which keeps track of not only your mascaras, lipsticks, and bronzers, but all of your skin- and hair-care products, too. It stores info, like when you bought an item and how full it is, then anticipates when you're running low. It sends you a reminder to refill, and when it's time, you can purchase a replacement within the app through retailers including Soap.com, Sephora, Saks, and Walmart. And if that wasn't enough, the app pulls in coverage from more than 30 magazines and blogs—allure.com included—so you never have to miss a new product review.Available for iPhone($2.99)This app is the ticket for beauty addicts shopping on a budget, pairing splurge-worthy products with cheaper drugstore versions. It's not perfect (the search function is pretty bare-bones, so we prefer to scroll through the app's individual category lists), but it puts inexpensive product recommendations for hair, makeup, skin, nails, and tools all in one place.Available for iPhone(Free)Ever wonder what you'd look like as a blonde? Modiface has the answer. Unlike some try-it-on apps, this one doesn't just drop a lame overlay of a preconfigured hairstyle on top of your photo; it actually changes the hair color in the image that you import. It's easy, too. Just upload a selfie, trace your hairstyle with your finger (so the app knows where to apply your chosen shade), and pick from one of the 30 blonde, brown, and red hair-color options. Download the premium version to unlock 20 more shades.Available for iPhone, Android, and Windows PhoneKeywordsbeauty trendsbeauty insiderbeauty expertapps It's not big news anymore, but we live in an app-driven world. After all, we carry our entire lives on our phones. Need to edit photos for the Insta? There's VSCO cam. Need to order a car when there aren't any cabs around? There's Uber. Need to pay your tech-savvy landlord? There's Venmo. We don't even need to go into the social media bit. Because we're all about convenience, we couldn't be happier (or more addicted) to our beauty apps. Whether we need to see how a lipstick looks on us through a selfie or we need to book a last-minute hair appointment, there is something for every beauty need. Here are the beauty apps you should download ASAP. Priv No more battling rush-hour traffic to get a manicure? Yes, please. If you're in New York and Los Angeles, you can book anything from a blowout to a Pilates class, and an expert will show up at your doorstep, all without you leaving the comfort of your own couch! Soothe Need some quality R&R? Soothe is an on-demand massage app that delivers a skilled masseuse to your doorstep in as little as 60 minutes, from 10 a.m. to midnight (perfect for anyone who's hitting a deadline at work, no?). Choose from three different timed sessions (60, 90, or 120 minutes) and the type of massage you want (Swedish, deep tissue, sports, or couples). Skeptical? Its perfect five-star review on Yelp should reassure you. The Glam App We love this on-demand app for the fact that it helps stylists as well. Stylists can manage their own schedules and appointments while building a clientele. Glamsquad If you couldn't tell already, we're all about doing stuff in the comfort of your own home, and if you live in Los Angeles, New York, or Miami, this is a great option. With this app, you can order your own glam squad who will come to you and do your hair, makeup, and nails. L'Oréal Makeup Genius Disclaimer: This app is highly addictive. It lets you try on various L'Oréal makeup products before you buy, and the results are surprisingly realistic. But the fun part is watching it give you a full makeup application in a real-time video, not a static photograph. YouCam Makeup This app has already been editor-approved. It provides virtual swatching of products from brands like Laura Geller, E.l.f. Cosmetics, and Elizabeth Arden. Most recently it launched a virtual skin diary to help you keep track of your skincare routine's progress. Ulta Beauty Unfortunately not everyone has this mega beauty store close to where they live. That isn't a problem anymore with a handy app that makes shopping so easy. You'll also be up to date with any sales and promotions that are going on, so you can continue to grow your beauty stash. Stash Think of this app as a personal organizer for your makeup bag. It keeps track of all the beauty products you own with a handy barcode scanner, and reminds you when you're running low (no more last-minute runs to Sephora to pick up your moisturizer). Plus, you can scroll through tons of beauty inspiration and purchase products right from the app—it even alerts you when one of your favorite products goes on sale. Fair warning: You may end up spending the better part of your Sunday scanning all the products you own. Sephora We're loving that beauty retailers are jumping on this app train. Similar to the Ulta Beauty app, in the Sephora app, you can shop the latest products found at the retailer with ease. But this app is also big on content, serving as an inspiration for all beauty lovers out there with a feed of pictures from other users and video how-tos. Next up, check out if using a virtual skin diary is really worth your time.
