Learn to read Excel, Escriba Excel, evaluate the fórmula cells and apply custom format to the Excel files generated using the Apache Poi library with examples. If we are creating software for human resources domain or finance, there is usually a requirement to generate Excel Reports, generally through management levels. In addition to the reports, we can also expect some input data for applications that come in the form of Excel sheets and the application is expected to support this requirement. Apache Poi is a well -adjusted library among many other open code libraries to handle these teams involving Excel files. Note that, in addition, we can read and write MS Word and MS PowerPoint files also using the Apache Poi library. In this Apache Poi tutorial, we will discuss some Common Excel operations in real -life applications. Maven dependancy! we are working on a Maven project, we can include Poi's dependence on the Pom.xml file using this:
