If we are to believe its author, the level of truth in the highly specific work of David Hawkins, if you are mistaken, becomes possible at 810 out of 1000 - an unusually high number for our time and era. If the previous sentence probably never read to you anything Hawkins never wrote. "Power vs. Force is the best place to discover his distinctive work and Pécunière philosophy. Get ready to dive! The Attractive Fields and the Problem of the Mind of Plato's mind, and above all after the western philosophy of Descartes, grappling with the problem of the mind and the body. Are they completely separate or do they communicate with each other? If the former, are there such things as the soul and life after death? If the latter is true, how does the mind control the body and can it control other bodies as well? After all, one body can influence other bodies: Your mind tells your hand to move someone, and said person's body moves in response. Can a spirit also influence other spirits without intermediaries? Is telepathy possible? However eccentric these questions may seem at first glance, they are actually very serious and so far none of them have been answered with sufficient certainty. However, in the 1970s, clinical research into the physiology of the nervous system led to a new science called kinesiology. Strictly speaking, kinesiology was not conceived as anything other than the scientific study of human movement. However, when a group of scientists combined their computational breakthroughs with previously existing holistic lessons, they discovered something quite intriguing. Where did the Newtonian physicists seel we want to believe its author, David Hawkins' power "power of power" if they are misleading ...

Calibrated 810 out of 1000, "unusually high number of our time and our time" " That's because you've never read anything about what Hawkins wrote. Power against power "is the best starting point to start exploring your different work and your special" permanent philosophy ". Our 12 -minute introduction in the book could be even better. Get ready for it dive! - Western philosophy took care of the problem of mind and body. Are both of them completely separated or communicate with each other? Other bodies?

After all, the body can affect other bodies: his mind says you have to come to someone and that person's body moves in a reaction. Can the Spirit affect other minds without intermediaries? Is there possible telepathy? E, at first glance , they are actually so serious and none of them have received an answer so far with sufficient confidence. However, in the 1970s, the clinical trials of nervous system physiology led to New science, called kineziology, was developed. Strictly speaking, Kineziology was nothing but a scientific study of human movement. However, when a group of scientists combined their computer knowledge with some of the existing holistic classes, they discovered something quite exciting. Where have Newton's physicists seen - insatiable or stupid? These feet of kinesiologists began to consider unexpected systems and hidden energy models that we now know as a field of attractiveness. The attractor field can be defined as a non -violent field of energy created by our views, opinions and mental currents. Each of us contributes to the creation of these areas, which in turn contributes to the formation of our thoughts and interacts with the environmental response to our body. Relationships are not simple: the areas of interest determine our actions much more than we have their character. Indeed, regional areas are impersonal, that is, we all tend to identify their presence in the same way, regardless of our view systems or individual intellectual abilities. Atorchita's positive fields contribute to love and inspire resistance in our muscle movements, while Atorchit's negative fields weaken both our muscles and our thoughts. Basic magnets of behavioral kinesiology, as you learned in elementary school, are created with invisible magnetic fields around them. Regardless of the fact that you cannot see the magnetic field, you can definitely observe its permanent effects. Simply apply a sheet of paper over a magnet and apply a paper iron: A simple touch of paper now makes the magnetic field visible. This is largely the way energy in us interacts with energy around us. If you can imagine the fields around us, each with its own specific, impersonal influence, you can also imagine your mind as a pile of iron applications. What about a piece of paper that makes visible and determines the interaction between magnets and iron fillings or even better between lawyers and your conscience? Interestingly, it's your body! Kineziologists did not expect to find something like that. However, when Dr. George Gudhart did in the second half of the 20th century, experimenting with nutritional supplements found that it significantly changes the power of certain muscle indicators of our body. For example, in chemical sweeteners, these indicator muscles have weakened and the same muscles somehow integrated in healthy plant supplements.

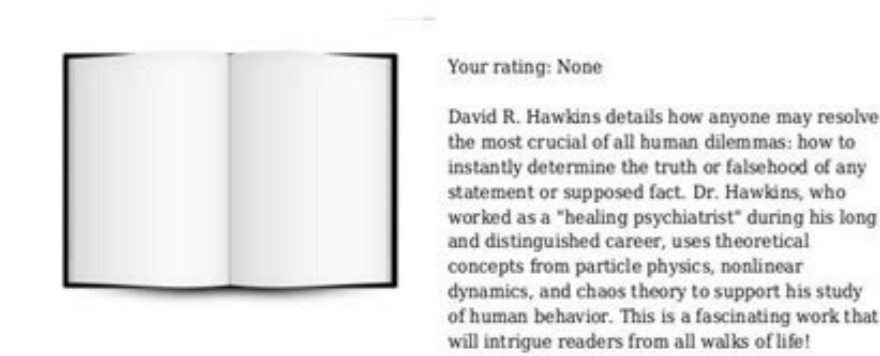

Essence explains Hawkins, was so much under perception of the term, the body knew and was able to signal what was good and what was bad during muscle testing. In the late 1970s, Dr. John Diamond improved Goodhart's experiments and founded a new subdisciplin kinesiology, called kinesiological behavior. In the innovative 1979 he shared his discoveries with the world. In the book "Your Body", where Diamond has submitted significant evidence to confirm that indicators not only strengthen or weaken by acting on physical stimuli, but also the presence of positive or negative emotional and intellectual stimuli. Simply put, a statement like "I hate that you have weakened the muscles of people's indicators," but a loving smile strengthens them.

Level	Log	Emotion	Life View
Enlightenment	700 - 1000	Ineffable	Is
Peace	800	Bless	Perfect
Joy	540	Serenity	Complete
Love	500	Reverence	Benign
Reason	400	Understanding	Meaningful
Acceptance	350	Forgiveness	Harmonious
Willingness	310	Optimism	Hopeful
Neutrality	250	Trust	Satisfactory
Courage	200	Affirmation	Feasible
Pride	175	Scorn	Demanding
Anger	150	Hate	Antagonistic
Desire	125	Craving	Disappointing
Fear	100	Anxiety	Frightening
Grief	75	Regret	Tragic
Apathy	50	Despair	Hopeless
Guilt	30	Blame	Evil
Shame	20	Humiliation	Miserable

The most interesting aspect of the diamond research was the uniformity of the entities. In other words, due to some stimuli, all subjects were weak and others strong. And some of these stimuli have been obtained from seemingly neutral images or symbols. Even more interesting is that some of them have appeared in the form of certain sound records of fraud. Although it seemed that the speakers had told the truth and sounded convincing enough to deliberately mention objects, everyone suffered muscle tests by listening to bands.

Book Review: Power vs. Force

Average:

All human endeavors have the common goal of understanding or influencing human experience. To this end, man has developed numerous descriptive and analytical disciplines: Morality, Philosophy, Psychology, and so on. Regardless of what branch of inquiry one starts from philosophy, political theory, theology-all avenues of investigation eventually converge at a common meeting point: the quest for an organized understanding of the nature of pure conscious-ness. To explain that which is simple can be difficult indeed. Much of this book is devoted to the process of making the simple obvious. If we can understand even one simple thing in depth, we will have greatly expanded our capacity for comprehending the nature of the universe and life itself.

How did their bodies know what their mind didn't know? Hokin who became a doctor asked soIn behavioral kinesiology in the early 1980s, his experiments confirmed Diamond's suspicions that in some way our bodies know the truth and objective value of things much better than our minds. Further experiments have helped Hawkin to discover the source of this interesting phenomenon. The French sociologist Emile Durkheim defined this "social awareness", and the Swiss psychoanalyst Carl Jung was always interested in the deepest aspects of the human psyche, that is, collective unconsciousness. Myths and religions call it existence, being, divinity, spirit of mundi, unity. Since it was created thanks to modern technology, Hawkins decides to call him a database of consciousness. Huge database. The database is the same human consciousness, whose car -condanna is only an individual expression, but has its roots in the collective consciousness of humanity. This database is a brilliant area; Because being human means participation in a database, everyone has access to the genius because of their birth. Strangely, it was not the greatest discovery. This description should be reserved for something different, i.e. means that ordinary people can reach a genius of collective consciousness. During over 20 years of improvement of some diamond techniques, Hawkins was able to analyze the entire spectrum of human levels of consciousness and create a charming map of the geography of human experience. But before presenting the results of the decades of research, let's take a look at his method: muscle tests. Your body does not lie: the muscles and the truth summarizes our discussion so far, behavioral kinesiologists such as Goodheart and DiamondHawkins went even further and proved through a series of experiments that our bodies not only manifest the energy of our thoughts, but also the energy of the thoughts of every other person on the planet, each of which contributes to So-Chiamati's attractive energy fields. These attractors in turn moderate and govern our more intimate thoughts and feelings, thus defining our distinct level of consciousness. Anything we think, say, or do (whether it's a random thought, an expression of love, or a determined effort to help someone), whatever we make or create (whether it's a useful item like an iPhone or a piece of art, such as film) generates an attractive energy field which then acts on the diffuse base charge of iron. Hawkin's double contribution to behavioral kinesiology is to perfect the method of determining the objective value of everything that exists (from thoughts to plants to man-made objects) and repeatedly uses it to create the famous numerological map, and repeatedly uses it to create the famous numerological map of human consciousness.

The impersonal energy fields of attractors with their emotional correlates. A variation of Diamond's original 1979 method, Hawkins' kinesiological tests of ideological plausibility are deceptively simple. The person is asked to stand with one arm relaxed at the side and the other parallel to the floor. Therefore, the examiner squeezes the wrist of the outstretched hand with two fingers and asks the subject to resist downward pressure. In this way, the researcher also makes a simple and declarative statement of yes or no, because Paris is the capital of France or this book is unique. If the complaint is negative or false, the subject will not be able to resist the muscles and will be weak. However, if the statement is positive or true, the subject will be strong and capable of itReduce pressure. This is the essence of muscle tests. The strength, strength and level of human consciousness, to make its discoveries more accessible to the public, Hawkins created an arbitrary number scale and used them to draw more accurate conclusions about the ideological validity of the idea, opinion, ideas and objects. He began receiving declarative reports of the following; this article (such as this book, organization, human motivation, etc.) is more than 100. "If its topic has been strong, it will paraphrase a declaration of more than 200, thus, thus, thus, with more than 300, etc. until a negative reaction is obtained. Therefore, it will be better than calibration: Is it over 220? 230? À et al. Hawkins describes the decisive level of 200, similar to support, which is shared in common areas of power. The description of the authorities as the Faculty of Ego, focusing on individual advantages and survival, asks us to think of the strength of something from the spirit, love and pure consciousness. Strength, S Molly to help, so you design others what you use from the outside, someone, someone doing something.

The true force in the opposition stems from the inside, not what you do, but who you are. Hawkins' consciousness begins with all the most selfish emotions: shame, feeling that is dangerous closer to death. At the energy level of 30 years, there is a mistake that follows apathy (50 energy level), pain (75),(100), Lust (125), Gniew (150) and Duma (175). At energy level 200, power manifests primarily in the form of courage. Productivity starts here. Interestingly, you can also determine the collective level of human consciousness. At an energy level of 250, called SO, the energy becomes positive and people stop dieting and take strict positions in life. At 310 energy level, height becomes possible - this is the readiness level. Then it comes after acceptance (energy level 350), followed by reason (400), love (500), joy (540) and world (600). The room energy field is very rare, affecting only 1 in 10 million people. He is also tall like most ordinary people. Some of them can create great works of art that calibrate between 600 and 700 and can temporarily transport us to a higher level of consciousness. However, these higher levels of consciousness; energy levels between 700 and 1000 are reserved only for the great spiritual leaders of humanity. According to Hawkins, only three creatures had calibrated to 1000, the highest energy level. Like millions of people, they define them not as humans but as gods: Krishna, Buddha, and Jesus Christ. On a final note, if Hawkins is to be believed, he and his research team used muscle testing to calibrate the levels of truth in each chapter, paragraph, and "power vs. force." The result was an energy level of 810, which means that the book, "like Sixties Chapel or Beethoven, "should inspire and uplift you at the current level of human consciousness. Unfortunately, we didn't even feel the same way. Conversely, we couldn't stop thinking about Kary Sagan and her claim that extraordinary claims require emergency proof. The force is valid, we found only the previous ones and many. Maybe we haven't looked as far as possibleOr maybe nothing else. 12 minutes of peak power never solved anything. Whether in the form of war or taxes, it has always been resisted because it is motivated by an expensive ego and goes against human nature. On the other hand, the strength of the indoor bar: it is economical and clean. So try to be strong in life; Never unreal. strong.
