She shared a poster of the actor's hit film Maine Pyar Kiya, also featuring Bhagyashree. In the caption, she urged people to stop 'worshipping' the actor without naming him. In a new post, Somy wrote, "A women beater, and not just me, but many. Stop worshipping him please. He's a sadistic sick *#uk. You have no idea." Also read |Somy Ali on ex-boyfriend Salman Khan: 'Don't know how many girlfriends he's had since I left' Somy was a huge fan of Salman in the 90s when his film Maine Pyar Kiya was released. Later, the two even shared the screen in a movie which got shelved later. They were also involved in a romantic relationship. View this post on Instagram A post shared by Somy Ali \(@realsomyali\) Earlier in an interview with Free Press Journal, Somy had shared that she confessed her feelings towards Salman while shooting for their film together. "We were heading to Nepal. I was sitting next to him. I just removed his photo showing it to him. I told him, 'I have come all the way to marry you!' He said, 'I have a girlfriend.' I said that doesn't matter. I was a teenager. Our relationship started after a year when I turned 17. He did tell me first. 'I love you.' It didn't take a lot of convincing," she said. The former actor also claimed to share a great rapport with Salman's parents. However, the two parted ways because Salman cheated on Somy, as per her. In an earlier conversation with Zoom, Somy had shared that they broke up because Salman cheated on her. "He cheated on me and I broke up with him and left. It's as simple as that," she had said. Since then, she has shared cryptic posts claiming their relationship was not what it was made out to be. Through the docu-series, a lot of awareness has been spread, says Somy. "I have received many emails praising our NGO and our courage, but the best compliment was an email telling me about my having the courage to share my truth even if it took 20 years. Anyone who has some knowledge of trauma knows that many victims take years to speak up and I started speaking up three years ago even before I had a documentary series. It was one of my closest friends who encouraged me to do so given the work I do daily, he said, you should share your story," she says. The actor added that she just wants victims universally to know that they do not have to suffer. "No one deserves to be sexually, physically or verbally abused. No child should be trafficked and sold into prostitution. There is help out there and if you are unable to reach No More Tears due to geographical reasons, still seek help. There is no shame in asking for help. Remember you are the victim not the perpetrator. Therefore, I highly emphasize that please look for help even if it means telling a friend or a neighbour. You do not and should not endure what I did and the victims my NGO has rescued. We are here to help you and there are many others who would be willing to help you too," she said. Somy became involved with women's rights issues in South Asia and works toward publicizing bringing the plight of rape and domestic violence victims. She has written articles about rape victims Shazia Khalid, Sonia Naz and Mukhtaran Mai. In 2011, she was honored with the American Heritage Award from the American Immigration Council for her work with No More Tears. Did you know Tiger Shroff auditioned for Spider-Man?
