Broiler chicken management guide

broiler is a bird of about 8 weeks of age of both sexes (horse chicks) with an average body weight of 1.5 to 2.0 kg with a bone cartilage of the flexible breast, pliable and tender meat. accommodation systems can be housed on floors or deep-wire cages. However, the cage, sleigh and flooring of the broilers wire are not as popular as the litter floor breeding, due to problems such as breast blister, leg weakness and increased initial investment. feed systems breeding systems refer to a single batch at a time (all-in all-out system) or multiple batches of brooding and broilers breeding. All-in all-out system in all-in all-out system, the company will only have a lot of broilers, belonging to the same hatch at any time. sufficient chicks will be purchased to accommodate the entire agricultural capacity, bred and marketed in a single lot. This system is more hygienic, less subclinical infections and horizontal spread of diseases and therefore less mortality rate, better growth rate and better feed efficiency. However, this system is not suitable for large-scale agriculture and needs a greater fixed capital and work per bird. Multiple batch system multi batch system consists of breeding more than one batch of chicks at any time, with a range of batches from 1 to 4 weeks. here, the farmer is buying one-day chicks and selling adult broilers a week, fifteen days, one in three weeks or a monthThe chicks are bred for five to six weeks of age, or until they reach the desired body weight and sold for the table. The ideal system for India is currently able to have 5 to 6 batches of broilers at any time, with weekly interval between lots and "retail company". Here, birds will be marketed every day, from 40 to 54 days of age, on the basis of their body weight, that is, heavier birds will be sold first; giving the possibility to the weakest birds to have a compensatory growth. Floor surface, power space and waterer space The space requirement of the floor of broilers varies depending on their body weight when marketing, housing systems, marketing age and ambient temperature. The power supply and watercolor space also varies depending on the ambient temperature and the health condition of the birds. Below is the approximate floor, power supply and water space necessary for broilers. Age Surface / Bird Space Power Supply / Bird Aquarius / Bird Up to 18 days 450 cm2 (0.5 sq.ft.) 3 cm 1.5 cm From 19 days to 42 days 1000 cm2 (1.1 sq.ft.) 6-7 cm 3 cm Brooding and broilers breeding It is similar to that for egg-type chicks. Broilers breeding can also be bred on cages. Chicken cages are similar to those of growers' cages. To prevent breast blisters, the bottom of the cage can be coated with some plastic materials. The requirement of floor space in cages is 50% of the floor space needed in deep material. The relative advantages andbroilers breeding advantages are, high breeding density advantages possible easy to catch birds at the time of the market and therefore reduces contusions no expense for the litter no incidences of coccidiosis reduced cannibalism clean and disinfection easier growth and the efficiency of disadvantaged feeds higher incidences of breast-cidences that increases the sentence of carcass birds do not have access to unidentified growth factors. cleaning faecal-trays is not easy to work. high initial investment on cages. birds will be uncomfortable especially during the summer feeding generally, three types of feeding are offered to broilers from day to marketing. 0-2 weeks – broiler Pre-starter mash / crumbs 3-4 weeks – broiler starter mash 5-6 weeks – broiler finisher mash lighting in open-ended houses, the most commonly recommended lighting program is 24 hours of light during the covature period, followed by 23 hours of light and an hour of dark per day, until marketing. this darkness of an hour is to train birds to acclimatize for darkness, in case of lack of power, which can cause panic and trample. vaccination program s. no. age vaccine path administration 1 first day marek (in hatchery) S/C at neck 2 5-7 ° day rdv f1 I/O or I/N 3 14 ° day ibd vaccine I/O or I/N 4 21 ° day rdv drinking water28th day ibd vaccine (booster) separate drinking water breeding broilers growth rate, floor space and nutrient requirements of male and female broilers are not the same. Since males grow faster than females, males need more space on the plane and nutrients of female broilers. due to these reasons, males and females broiler chicks are bred separately, in many countries, as a child of the day available. here, one-day broiler chicks are sex by "female sex method" rather than by "vent-sexing", as in the case of egg-type chicks. bone broiler chicks are cooked and bred separately until marketing. separate diets are provided for males and females. male broilers require more protein, while females require less energy and less protein. advantages the more uniform body weight of flocks can be produced by separate sexes breeding. you can meet the specialized market requirement. females can be raised, dressed and sold as whole chicken; While the male carcasses will be used exclusively for deboning and various cutting parts. More accurate nutrition to meet the specific requirement of each sex will be possible. this will lead to better growth and improved feed efficiency. Due to the uniformity of the flock, automatic processing equipment can be adjusted more accurately for greater processing efficiency and for a minimum condemnation. reduce the incidence of cannibalism and peck order, due to increased uniformity of the flock. disadvantages increase sex costs.breeding flocks are necessary to meet the demand of males and females broiler chicks. In turn, cherries may require that their customers always purchase the same number of male and female chicks. performance efficiency measures in broilers 1. livability livability % = number of birds sold x 100 number of birds at first normal value is 97-98% 2. ratio of efficiency or conversion of feeding fcr = total amount of feed consumed per bird in increase of body weight kg in kg a value of 1.8 or less than 6 weeks of age is preferable. 3. efficiency factor of broiler performance (bpef) bpef = live weight in kg x 100 power efficiency The higher the best value will be the index. a value of 100 or more is desirable. 4. broiler farm economy index (bfei) bfei = average weight (kg) x per cent viability power efficiency x growth period (days) a bfei value of 2.0 and above indicates better management of the farm and optimal performance of the birds; while a value less than 1.3 indicates poor performance of the flock. broilers squab broilers very small, weighing about 0.9 kg to about 28 days of age is called broilers squab. These are raised in straight stroke, processed, avoided and sold as a whole carcass fresh or frozen.TOP Poultry Preparation for Show 1) Bird selection Select only healthy birds. This is important for two reasons: It increases the chances of winning the price as healthy birds will have a good physical condition and a bright appearance. It reduces the possibility of spreading diseases to other birds present in the show. 2) training birds Birds to be presented for the show must confirm the standard description for its breed and variety. Select the bird soon. At least a week before the show, place each bird in a cage similar to that used during the poultry show. Handle every two or three times a day similar to the one used during the judgment so that the birds get trained and do not get excited during the show. Do not expose red colored birds to direct sunlight for several hours because it will fade the color of the plumage. 3) Wash birds When the plumage is dirty and dirty, it does not seem good in spectacle cages. Birds are washed with cleansing solution (avoid detergents that make the feather fragile). If external parasites are present, birds can be immersed in the Sevin solution from 0.25 to 0.50 %. A bird can be washed for 15 to 20 seconds and the bird must be placed in a drying cage and dries in 20 to 30 minutes. Birds should be dried slowly for the best results. 4) After washing A small piece of cloth is moistened with oil for children or vitamin E enriched and rubbedthe comb, the watts, the beak and the shank of the bird. a mixture of equal parts of alcohol, glycerin and olive oil makes an excellent cleaning and polishing solution for styhus, feet, combs and wattles. check your nails and beak and see if you need a trim. the choice of teeth is oata to clean the nostrils of the bird. 5) transport of birds carrying birds in a clean cage with straw or wood chips as a bed material. do not provide water as it will pour out and ruin the material of bed linen. If the birds must be transported long distance, the water must be supplied at intervals during transport. 6) bird care during the show make sure that birds are provided with abundant food and water during the show. 7) care of birds after the show after the show, birds must be quarantined and should not be mixed with other birds on the farm immediately because it can transmit some diseases that was acquired during the show by other birds. after 14 days of quarantine, can be mixed with other farm birds. top top
