Android toast namespace

Makertext static toasted (context of context, payment text, int durability) creates a standard toasted bread that contains only the text. See also: Public Float Gethorizontalmargin () return the horizontal margin. Note that the toast sent by the background are such limited, therefore avoiding to send these toasts in rapid succession. The custom views of the Toast are deprecated. From the Java.lang.Object Object Clone () class creates and returns a copy of this object. Int hashCode () returns a hash code value for the object. Setgravity of the public emptiness (int gravità, int xoffset, int yoffset) set the position in which the notification should appear on the screen. The simplest way to use this class is to call one of the static methods that build everything that you need and return a new toast object. A toast is a view containing a small quick message for the user. This is the default value. Void finalize () called by the garbage collector on an object when the garbage collection determines that there are no more references to the object. Starting from Android Build.Version Codes # R, Apps Targeting Api Level Build.Version Codes # R or superior who are in the background will have no personalized toast views. String toString () Returns a string representation of the object. Toast tostring () Returns a string representation of the object. Toast (context of the context) to build an empty toast object. Setgravity Void (int gravità, int xoffset, int yoffset) set the position in which the notification should appear on the screen. Equal boolean (object object) indicates if any other object is "equal to" this. Apps can create a standard text of standard text with the Maketext method (Android.Content.context, Java.lang.chasquext, Int) or use a snack bar when in the foreground. Float Getverticalmargin () returns the vertical margin. Final emptiness Wait () causes the thread Wait until another thread invokes the notify () method or the notifyall () method for this object. Int Getxoffset () returns the offset x in pixels to be applied to the position of the gravit. floating float Return the horizontal margin. Public Float Getvertcalmargin () returns the vertical margin. Int Getyoffset () return the offset y in pixel to be applied to the position of the gravit. Final static audience Int Length Long shows the view or notification of the text for a long period of time. Void Setduction (Intraction) imposed how long to show the view for. Starting from Android Build.Version Codes # R, in App Targeting Level Build.Version Codes.r or Superiore, Toasts built with maketext (Android.content.context, Java.lang.charocessive, int) or its variants will also return null quiente they had called SetView (Android.view.view.view) with a non -null view. When viewing for the user appears, it appears as a floating view of the application. WARNING: Starting from Android Build.Version Codes # R, for the targeted apps at the built level build.version_codes # R or higher, this method is a no-op when it called toasted bread. Int Getgravity () audience, get the position in which the notification should appear on the screen. VOID final notification () ricienting on a single thread that is waiting for the monitor of this object. Toasts built with Toast (Android.Content.context) who did not call SetView (Android.View.View) with a non -null view returns Null here. See also: constant value: 1 (0x00000001) Public Static Final Int Length short shows the display or notification of the text for a short period of time. View GetView () This method was deprecated in the Api 30 level. Public void show () shows the view for the duration specified. Walling horizontal floating parameters: the horizontal margin, in the percentage of the width of the container, between the edges of the container and the verification float of the notification: the vertical margin, in the percentage of the height of the container, between the edges of the container and the Public Void Settext (Int Resid) updates the text in a previously created toast using one of the Maketext methods (). See also: public void cancel () close your view if it's it's or don't show it if it isn't showing yet. The idea is to be as unobtrusive as possible, while still showing the user the information you want them to see. Parameters callback Toast.Callback: This value cannot be null. Normally view will disappear on its own after the appropriate duration. If you want to be notified when the toast is shown or hidden, use addCallback(android.widget.Toast.Callback). Parameters s CharSequence: The new text for the Toast. Starting with Android 12 (API level 31), apps targeting Android 12 or newer will have their toasts limited to two lines. It will never receive focus. public int getYOffset () Return the Y offset in pixels to apply to the gravity's location. Parameters gravity int xOffset int yOffset int See also: public void setMargin (float horizontalMargin, float verticalMargin) Set the margins of the view. Warning: Starting from Android Build.VERSION CODES#R, for apps targeting API level Build.VERSION CODES#R or higher, this method shouldn't be called on text toasts as its return value may not reflect actual value since text toasts are not rendered by the app anymore. Added in API level 1 Deprecated in API level 30 public View getView () This method was deprecated in API level 30. See also: Constant Value: 0 (0x00000000) public void addCallback (Toast.Callback callback) Adds a callback to be notified when the toast is shown or hidden. Parameters resid int: The new text for the Toast. int getGravity() Get the location at which the notification should appear on the screen. int getDuration() Return the duration. Il vuoto finale notificano () sveglia tutti i thread che stanno aspettando sul monitor di questo oggetto. void addCallback(Toast.Callback callback) Adds a callback to be notified when the toast is shown or hidden. Note that if the toast is blocked for some reason you won't get a call back. static Toast makeText(Context context, int resid, int duration) Make a standard toast that A resource. The toast class helps you create and show them. Public int Getxoffset () Return the offset x to pixel to apply to the position of the gravit. Int Length short shows the view or text notification for a short period of time. For information on creating Brindisi notifications, read the guide for toast notification developers. The user probably will be in the middle of typing something else. Void Setmargin (Float Horizontalmargin, vertical float margin) sets the margins of the vision. Class Toast.Callback callback object to call when the toast is shown or hidden. Int Long long shows the view or notification of text for a long period of time. This time it could be definable by the user. Two examples are the control of the volume and the short message that says that your settings have been saved. Void Settext (Charsequence S) updates the text in a toast previously created using one of the maketext methods (). Void Settext (Int Resid) updates the text in a toast previously created using one of the maketext methods (). Void Show () shows the view for the specified duration. Normally you don't have to call it. Public Void Settext (Charsequence S) updates the text in a toast previously created using one of the maketext methods (). Void cancels () Close the view if it is displayed or not show it if it is not yet shown. The final vacuum (long timeout) makes it wait for the current thread to wait until another thread invokes the notify () method or the notifyALAL () method for this object, or a specified period of time has elapsed. Void SetView (View Vista) This method has been deprecated in the API 30 level. Note that snacks are preferred for short messages while the app is in the foreground. Returns the view. Void Removecallback (toast.callback callback) removes a callback previously with addcallback (Android.widget.toast.callback). The final void (long timeout, int nanos) makes the current thread wait until another thread invokes NOTIFY () method or notifyALAL () method for this object, or some other threads interrupts the current thread or a certain real time has spent. FINAL CLASS GETCLASS () Returns the runtime class of this object. Object.
