I want to take the time to evaluate this app before I install this new update because it never left. This program is completely positive. No need to invest money to play. You can play with people online, you can play on your computer, you can collect a chest where you can buy decks from earnings, you can trade people online and add decks and sets from the real world. There is nothing more you can do. But I can request that I can contact people while playing online and you can send messages to people if they are not online so that they can receive messages from us when they come back and finally fix the bugs. With data that does not identify me. I should create a program close to the system, not as a new user. Being able to configure the background and background music can be quite nice. In addition to this great piece, great work by the Pokan team © Mon TCG really enjoy playing Pokir © Mon TCG. It's a game with a well-rounded strategy, balanced so that mostly smart play can help you come back from a delay, and can also balance new players with veterans so there aren't terrible barriers. The app is also completely free and offers many varieties, so you can play endlessly. But I started teasing this game for the last 6 months. They released two new decks: Mach Strike and Imperial Command. These decks are like thisCompared to the entire released deck. Although it is not two circles, it is very easy to damage death once in three. If you get really lucky and literally play your cards right, you can come back to win. But when it comes down to it, good luck because half of the people I play just to grind that waist. If things start to go south, they come out and push me against the wall. I like to play a solid game for 10 minutes and it's a good problem between two players and it's too small and much more because everyone uses the same two decks because the best and no one wants a challenge. I would like them to change that waist or I would like to get rid of it because they ruined the fun and balance of the game. This game has a great early game progression system with standard starting decks. Gradually it becomes harder for you to play longer and shines for really experienced players. If you're new to the TCG stage, I think I don't recommend this app unless you have a very good friend to cut out of mine or at all if you don't trade cards. The only reason I don't give this a 5/5 is the home screen UI because they don't create what you do. This app game cannot use card packs. You have to literally go to your computer or you will be taken to Safari on the website to use the deck and cards. Finally, if you are well informed, the mold and Poké game will give you many prize systems to buy more cards. After entering this grinding train to achieve prices, the purchase of packages is very satisfactory. After purchasing the packages, there are several game modes that allow you to develop as a player. Personally, I'm not very good at bridge building, but it's a normal room, my TCG provides the tools to focus on the game instead of frustrating the bridge structure. I especially like the game mode with waist motifs that sell me. Developer, Pokemon Company International, Inc. For more information, read the programmer's privacy policy.
