Several titles took me through the many months of isolation of 2020 years. Normal people of the Limited Hulu series. Chloë & Zhao Nomadland Film. All clothes in Mrs. America and the Queen's Gambit also helped. As they did the very unexpected twists in Kaley Cook, the flight attendant. Also, Dan Levy's sweaters in Schitt's Creek, obviously. But what about 2021? Fortunately, it doesn't seem to go there soon new movies and TV releases. HBO has announced new seasons for its insecure shows and successions arriving in 2021, as well as the release of the Prequal House of the Dragon throne game in 2022. Disney Plus has a long list of new programming this year for fans Of the star wars and wonderful universes. Finally we see Keanu Reeves and Carrie-Anne Moss in the matrix 4. And Netflix has just promised that we will be able to watch "new films, every week, all year". Some of the new titles of 2021 will be ready films and had the release dates postponed because of the pandemic, as a quiet, timeless place to die and the black widow. But a lot of content we will like it is just simple new, which means that it was produced and shot during the pandemic times. Here's how it was also possible. Back in June 2020, Hollywood's big unions released a report entitled "The Safe Waying Awards" which has outlined extensive security guidelines on how the members of the cast and crew could return to work. Has created a "zone system" which has written that everyone works in a production will be tested in the last 24 hours before entering the so-called A Zone A - the area of a production that includes artists, which during shooting cannot use DPI Or follow distance physical requirements. The area of a production is also constituted by those who are in direct contact with actors, such as the director, camera operators or makeup and hair artists. They are all tested for Covid-19 at least three times a week. Photo of courtesy: Eric McCandless / ABC "Zone B is everywhere production has a fingerprint that is not the Area A. The use of PPE and strict physical physical practices are observed and applied within the area B" Adds the report. Those in the B area are tested at least once a week. Both the gilding of America's administrators (DGA) and SAG-AFTRA, the union of the actors, has accepted these security guidelines for their members. This allowed them to slowly restart production in the United States. The Writers Guild of America (WGA), in turn, has published the best practices for the rooms of the Zoom writer, which means that the new seasons of most of your favorite TV programs have been written in virtual settings. The WCA guidelines specify scholars should repay writers for expenses such as ergonomic monitors or chairs and advise on the programming of 10-minute breaks during room time. They also recommend using software "as Writersroom Pro or Miro " which allows screenWriter to imitate use of a blackboard, the place where they would normally noted the details on the development of the character or texture before putting them on the page. The paradise of the writers was immune to the pandemic, however, and some television shows even incorporated the Covid-19 plots in their plots to reflect the reality we faced for the last year. Gray anatomy, the Conners, Black-ish and a special episode of Mythic Quest: Raven's banquet found ways to reflect the crisis of real life through their characters. And of course, shooting have not been only started into the United States. Netflix announced in June that some of his shows rosters Spaniards were recovering production, including Stephen King King Favorite Money Heist (La Casa de Papel), which also has Netflix's most observed non-English show. One of the directors of the show, Koldo Serra, published in his Instagram account on August 17, 2020, from the new standard of shooting in times when masks are a need. Photo of courtesy: @ Koldo_serra / Instagram Jurassic World: domain has resumed production in July in London after commissioning a Medical structure to manage production. All crew members have been tested before and during production. The management has also limited the number of people admitted in the diferent spaces through the pinewood studios in which the film was shot, is assured to install more sinks, distributed disinfectant and recalled the necessary crew of respecting the rule " 6 feet of separation ". Even during the summer and autumn, the sequel Avatars returned to shooting in New Zealand and Shang-Chi Marvel restarted (and wrapped) shooting in Australia, where the cases were lower. "The interesting thing about it, I think, too, is that it is not so many all those who will poison each other, is a lot of self-policie, which is how, " I want to make sure I'm not doing anything to put my members of the crew, my beings, in danger, "said Awkwafina Shang-who told the Hollywood journalist on the recovery experience in this situation. "The Night Alley in Stella Guillermo del Toro has collected production in September in Vancouver, after being stopped in March of 2020. "It's not easy," said Mexican director during a virtual panel this summer. "Basically you are making a great surgical theater. You must be sterile, have all in almost clinical conditions. But at the same time, you have to reenact a carnival". Del Toro also explained how difficult it was to coordinate and reprogram your cast for the second portion of the shooting. "The blessing of having this cast is incredible, but the trouble of reprogramming with all this are enormous because everyone is upon request." Bradley Cooper, Cate Blanchett, Rooney Mara, Collette Tones and Willem Dafoe are some of the big names that appear in a nightmare alley. Netflix has just announced a list of 70 films to be released in 2021, with Gal Gadot and the Red Beat Notice of Rock and Leonardo DiCaprio and Jennifer Lawrence, Don't Look Up, "as Looks, C " It is more a hybrid bubble, which is just the cast and some members of the key crew. We focus on the cast because they are those who do not wear masks and are the most vulnerable. "Sengupta said. The DGA has To its members at the beginning of 2021 that the Covid-19 protocols had been "largely effective in capturing infected individuals before they are contagious and limiting the widespread potential on the set". The good news is that the system seems to work. And it seems that ... See the Candida images, like Chris Evans administered your Covid-19 test on the Boston set of Don't Look or Hailee Steinfeld and Jeremy Renner surrounded by masked members and crew-seen screenshots on the New York set of Haweye. Photo courtesy: Jose Perez / Bauer-Griffin / GC Pictures / Getty Images Plus, the list of new titles in phase proceeds. The Hollywood journalist published a relationship of all the films that is fired by the main film studios during the pandemic in 2020. List the number of productions more than 73 "and that number represented only the films. But also If Hollywood has perfected the art of filming in "new normal" circumstances, shooting a show or a film in times like these still seems intimidating and incredibly complicated. There is no wonder Tom Cruise has become a bit angry about Mission set: Impossibly 7 few weeks ago because a couple of crew members do not follow the social guidelines. It is probably not to say that we all need a new Hollywood escapism to exceed 2021. So I am pleased with Cruise - and many others in the sector - are insured that the show goes on.
