Maytronics Dolphin Filter Cartridges and Bags Dolphin filters make it easier to conserve the pool from coarse, fine and ultra-fine debris. Your Dolphin drop-and-go features a multi-layer filtering system that traps everything from coarse particles to thin and ultrafine. As a happy consequence, your underground pool or off ground offers you nothing but sparkling and clean water. But, even more importantly, you and your guests can have fun comfortably knowing they are safe from harmful bacteria. Reaching that level of cleaning «from the pool surface to the pool floor» requires some routine maintenance of the filter on yourMaytronics has made it as simple as possible to enhance your residential or commercial pool experience, since all you typically need to do is: Pull the filter out, rinse it clean with a hose, let the air dry and resell it. Follow the answers to Dolphin users’ questions about filters. Oops, the light’s on! Q. The full filter indicator light is activated, but our filters are clean. What could that mean? A. The dolphin’s full filter light is controlled by a sensor connected to the unit’s engine. Should come anytime a filter bag or a filter cartridge is almost full, making it difficult for your Dolphin to draw water through it. Let’s say this is not the case for you, since it doesn’t sound like it. You want to apply these quick DIY corrections: â€¢ Clear all visible filter bags / debris cartridges. â€¢ Then, thoroughly clean and fully fit the unit filters. â€¢ With the Dolphin in use, press the “Reset” button. â€¢ Hold down the “Reset” button for about 3-5 seconds. â€ Check the full filter light indicator, making sure it is off. Basically, what you just did is “zero” out the sensor. As a result, that light should not turn on again until the filters start filling or are full. What about the damaged filters? Q. My Dolphin’s filters are torn or otherwise damaged. Because of this, I want to know if there are spare parts available. If so, what is the best way for me to get them? A. We’re sorry to hear it, although you may be luckier than you think! It is possible that the filters are still covered by a warranty. Even if they are not, parts and accessories like these can be purchased from a local authorized reseller within the Maytronics Distributor network. We are happy to help you understand which situation applies to you: â€ First, locate your serial # drive. â€ Look in the envelope next to the barcode. â€ See that white stripe?
